

The Bishop

The bishop moves diagonally one direction at a time. Each side has a bishop that stays on the white squares and one bishop that stays on the black squares. The bishop is named after church officials.

The bishop may move diagonally until he meets a piece of his own color. A bishop must always stay on the color he started on. Below are the common symbols for bishops.

